FARMERS DECLARE PRODUCTS ARE NOT FINDING MARKET

No Stockyards Here and Local Demand Is Over-Supplied.

Canning Factory's Suspension Hurt Vegetable Gardeners.

CHANCE FOR BROKERS HERE

Critics seem to have arisen in the production and sale of two classes of farm products, in the territory adjacent to Paducah, and unless some way forward out of the present situation is found, it is more than likely that a backward movement will set in. Garden truck and live stock are the two farm products that are not on a satisfactory basis for McCracken county farmers, and for all other counties that find Paducah their natural market.

Cattle, according to the farmers, are selling extremely low in Paducah, but according to the butchers, the prices paid for live stock are normal, if not a little above that figure. From 3 to 4 cents are paid for live stock by the butchers and more than that they are offered at those prices. Farmers say it does not pay them to drive their cattle to the city to make sales at such figures and some of them think the reason for the poor market is found in the lack of stock yards in Paducah.

Nobody is buying stock here now to ship to Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville or other packing centers, and as a consequence the extent of stock raising in this country that was developed when the stock yards were in operation, is too large for the home consumption and glutting is the natural result. The same situation has arisen through the suspension of the canning industry here through fire, leaving the farmers producing on a scale greater than the local market can absorb.

Great stimulation is given to stock raising when the Paducah stock yards are running and the farmers are anxiously awaiting a favorable turn. In the market, which doubtless would soon bring a number of buyers. Corn will be high this fall and stock will be high because that is their winter food. Greater prosperity will come to the farm when all its products find a ready market and enterprising Paducahans with free capital could find a profitable investment for themselves by a brokerage business in the farm products that are now going begging in the city markets.

Lace Curtains Burn.
A pair of lace curtains was destroyed at the home of William Graham, Fourth and Tennessee streets, last night about 10 o'clock by fire. A breeze came through the window and blew the curtains over a lamp, and the curtains were afire in a second. An alarm was telephoned in and companies Nos. 1, 2 and 4 answered. The curtains burned like a flash of powder, and caught nothing else in the room. The damage was trivial.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OUTING

Woodville probably will be the place for the annual McCracken County Sunday School association, which delegates from all the churches in the county that are members of the association, will attend. It will be an all-day session with a barbecue country dinner on the ground. The executive committee of the association will have the program for the institute ready next week.

Police and Fire Commissioners Called to Hear Testimony About Investigation of Incendiarism

Everyone is Reticent About Evidence in Case of Fire at O. E. Potter's Saloon on North Eighth Street June 23.

Although no official will discuss the matter, it is said evidence concerning the incendiary blaze which destroyed O. E. Potter's saloon, on North Eighth street, early on the morning of June 23, will be produced before the board of police and fire commissioners when they meet tomorrow night at the city hall. Conferences were being held all day yesterday, the result of which seems to have been the calling together of the commissioners to hear evidence secured by Detectives Moore and Baker, who were detailed on the case. It is said a note, now in the hands of Mr. Bill H. Boone, agent for the company which had the risk, will figure in the case, but no details concerning the evidence could be procured from any one with authoritative knowledge of what took place in the conferences.

Mr. Boone admits that he was called to the city hall in connection with the case. The insurance on the place has not been paid, but that is because Mr. Potter has not yet filed an inventory in conformity with the demands of the insurance company. He filed a general statement one showing that the loss amounted to $500. The extent of the risk was $700. Mr. Richard Callahan filed a lien covering most of the fixtures.

Mr. Boone at first understood Mr. Potter to say his partner, by the name of Jewell, really knew most about the business, but since then he has explained that Mr. Boone mis-understood him, and he owns the business himself.

The saloon is Jewell Bros. old stand.

The saloon was operated in the name of Potter & Company on Eighth street between Campbell and Harris streets. It burned down early the morning of June 23. No arrests have been made and neither Mr. Boone nor Mr. Potter could say whether there is evidence pointing to anyone as guilty of burning the building. It is reported that there is some

ENGINEER BETTER

Engineer John Goodall, of the towboat Harvester, continues to improve at Riverside hospital from the wound he received at Caseyville Monday night when the West Kentucky Coal company's river property was riddled with bullets by a mob.

LEVI RANDOLPH ANTICIPATED HIS FREEDOM TO JOIN CREW OF HARVESTER

Captain Farnsley Working to Get Pardon For Faithful Servant Now in Jail.

Captain Farnsley, of the West Kentucky Coal company's big towboat Harvester, left Paducah yesterday after an apparently successful visit here for the purpose of securing a pardon for his faithful servant, Levi Randolph, who has been confined in the county jail almost a year. Randolph was first sentenced for taking property without intent to steal, the misdemeanor being committed by the negro taking a horse from the stable of a farmer in the county and riding it to Paducah, where he hitched the animal and left it. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the county jail and made a model prisoner, soon becoming a trusty and was allowed the usual privileges. Three days before his sentence would have expired Randolph learned that the Harvester was in port, bound for the Mississippi, and the temptation to run away from the jail and join the boat's crew and the captain he loved was too strong and he made his escape.

When the Harvester again visited Paducah Randolph was rearrested and sentenced to six months more for escaping jail. He has served four months of the time. The petition, asking the governor for a pardon, was signed by the county judge and all other court officials and it is believed the negro will soon be free to return to his boat without molestation.

Captain Farnsley wants the negro to be ready to accompany him to New Orleans as soon as the Ohio rises sufficiently to float the big barges of coal away from Caseyville.

BOB'S BOY.

Honolulu, July 23.—It is reported that Lieutenant Frank Evans, son of "Fighting Bob," had a fight on the battleship Georgia with Lieutenant Commander Carter. It is said Evans struck his superior and knocked him down. Both men refused to discuss it. Officers are trying to push it up, but it is expected a report will be made to Washington.

complaint about the conduct of the investigation and this will be aired at the board meeting. It is known that Chief Collins, Potter, Mr. Boone, Detectives Moore and Baker and City Solicitor Campbell have been closeted with the mayor frequently the last two days and that the mayor has called the facts to the attention of the police board.

In police circles it is intimated that three witnesses can be produced to prove who burned the building.

Benton People to Hear Taylor.

To hear ex-governor Bob Taylor's lecture at the Chautauqua last night a party of citizens arrived in Paducah yesterday from Benton. In the party were: Judge and Mrs. E. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Price, W. S. Griffith, Postmaster J. Hardin Ford, Judge H. B. Holland, Edgar Starks, J. L. Griffith, L. E. Wallace and H. L. Griffith.

BOSTON BANDIT CAPTURED AFTER ALL NIGHT VIGIL

Boston, July 23.—One of the bandits who terrorized the town last night, killing two persons and fatally wounding two more, and shooting seven was surrounded killed in Forest Hill cemetery this morning. Police, armed with rifles, watched the cemetery all night. They entered at daylight and the bandit, with ammunition exhausted, tried to escape and received twenty wounds, dying instantly. Another man captured in the cemetery proved to be only a spectator and was released. Two desperadoes are still at large. The men gave Boston the greatest wild west scare in 50 years.

COUNTY FARMERS INSTITUTE WILL TALK FEDERATION

McCracken county farmers will gather at the Casino, Wallace park, Friday morning for a two days' meeting of the county institute under the direction of C. M. Hanna, of the state agricultural bureau. Farm problems will be discussed by John A. McClure, of Hickman, but the principal business of the annual institute will be the discussion of a federation for all the tobacco growers' organizations in Kentucky.

C. M. Hanna and John A. McClure arrived this morning and Mr. Hanna left before noon for Maxon Mills, where a barbecue and band dance have attracted a large attendance of farmers.

Good Roads.

Good roads will be one of the important subjects of the institute. Mr. Hanna, who is president of the state association for good roads, has an expensive device for smoothing out ruts and horsehoe prints in the roads after rains.

The institute will be asked to endorse a resolution to the general assembly, asking for a constitutional amendment that will put all prison labor in the stone quarries of the state and so take them out of competition with free labor. Mr. Hanna will speak on this subject Saturday evening.

J. R. Leigh was appointed guardian of the estate of Eddie Allen Leigh, and guardian of Addie, Connie, Beulah and J. D. Leigh.

DAIRIES WILL BE RATED FOR THEIR WHOLESOMENESS

Inspector Farley Will Adopt System For Benefit of Milk Consumers.

Condition of Stable and Milk House and Cows.

IS SUCCESSFUL ELSEWHERE

Dr. Ed P. Farley, city meat, milk and livestock inspector, has prepared a score card by which to rate the Paducah dairies so that the citizens may tell at a glance the condition of the buildings of the dairymen. Such a score card is kept in all of the cities and Dr. Farley has taken his points from the inspectors of Louisville and other cities in the state. It is arranged so that the condition of the cows scores 20 per cent; the cleanliness of the stables 20 per cent; the cleanliness of the milk house 10 per cent; the milking 20 per cent, and the care in handling the milk counts for 15 per cent. Any dairyman with a per cent of 85 or over is rated as excellent, and down to 75 the dairy is considered good. A dairy with a percentage of 65 may be considered fair, but below 40 per cent is poor. Mr. Farley believes the score card will be of value to the citizens, as with proper arrangement the cleanliness and healthfulness of the milk may be noted by anyone.

The score card is: Cows—condition, 2; health, 8; cleanliness, 5; water supply, 5; making a total of 20. Stables—construction, 5; cleanliness, 5; light, 5; removal of excrement, 5; making a total of 20. Milk house—construction, 5; cleanliness, 10; care and cleanliness of utensils, 10; making a total of 25. Milking—health of employees, 10; cleanliness of milking, 10; making a total of 20. Handling milk—prompt and efficient, 5; keeping at low temperature, 5; protection during transportation, 5; making a total of 15.

CONFERENCE AT LA CENTER ENDED THIS AFTERNOON

La Center, July 23. (Special).—Interest in the conference of the Paducah district of the Methodist church is unabated and the conference after a busy day will adjourn this afternoon at 5 o'clock. For the next place of meeting, Broadway church, Paducah, Arlington and Simpsonia were placed in nomination this afternoon with the chances slightly in favor of Arlington.

Delegates to the annual conference of the church were elected this morning as follows: J. M. Porter, Clinton; S. S. Johnston, Highland circuit; C. W. Morrison, Trimble Street, Paducah; R. T. Ligon and J. E. Breckinridge, Alternate, Captain J. L. Webb, Warner Moore, of Paducah, lead the devotional services at 8 o'clock this morning, and last evening the Rev. G. W. Banks, of the Trimble Street church of Paducah, preached a missionary sermon that was closely followed by a capacity audience.

Four applicants were licensed to preach by the district conference. They were, Keener Rudolph, John Sier, Rudolph Naylor and A. McNutt. At 10 o'clock this morning, reports were again taken up and the report of the Home Mission society was especially interesting. Dr. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder, and Dr. G. T. Sullivan, of Paducah, addressed the conference on this report. Committees on education and finances reported this morning. The Rev. J. W. Waters, of Hickman, preached to the conference at 11 o'clock.

All business is being finished this afternoon. Resolutions thanking the citizens of La Center for their splendid hospitality were passed and the conference will close with a general handshaking. Dinner was served to 1,000 people today.

DRINK CRAZED DEMON KILLS MAN AND WIFE

Louisville, July 23.—(Special).—Phillip Hans, 22 years old, crazed with drink and jealousy, killed Arthur Kraft and fatally wounded Mrs. Kraft. He had warned them he would kill them. He was infuriated with Mrs. Kraft and had been reported.

Night Riders Return to Otter Pond and Destroy Box Car Standing on the Illinois Central Sidetrack

Dispatch From Hopkinsville Says That Mail Was Burned in Station Tuesday Night—Supt. Egan Goes Down.

Night riders visited Otter Pond again last night and burned a box car belonging to the Illinois Central Railroad company. The car had been run in on the sidetrack during the day, and it is evident that the night riders were within easy summoning distance of Otter Pond. The fire took place before midnight. Only two citizens saw the blaze.

Burned Mail.
A Hopkinsville dispatch says:

At Gracely, in this county, there were probably twenty or more night riders. They came into town on the Cadiz road. Two were on horses, one rode a mule and the others were in eight buggies.

The gang proceeded to the Illinois Central depot. Killing and coal oil were taken from one of the buggies and a fire was soon started under the building. While a few of the incendiaries were thus engaged, the main body rolled to a place of safety a box car containing tobacco. This car was saved, but two flat cars were burned.

This car was brought to Hopkinsville this morning. No bills were received with it, as they were burned in the station. It is understood that part of the tobacco is consigned to the American Snuff company and a part to Cooper & Co.

United States Mail.
The depot building, together with all of its contents, was consumed by the flames. One thing of importance destroyed was a sack of mail for the Cadiz postoffice. The burning of this property will mean an investigation of the raid by federal authorities.

May Change Picnic.
The burning of the railroad stations at Cerulean, Otter Pond and Gracely has caused the employees of the railroad shops to entertain fears that the picnic at Cerulean, arranged for August 5, may have to be called off and another place selected. Since the affair night before last the company is running only passenger trains carrying mail through the district and the greatest precautions are taken to prevent accidents to the trains. An inspection is made of each bridge and trestle and engineers have orders to stop slow enough that the train might be stopped promptly if there should be any obstruction placed on the track.

Superintendent A. H. Egan.
Superintendent A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, went to Princeton this morning to meet other officials and arrange for the rebuilding of the stations at Otter Pond, Gracely and Cerulean Springs, which were burned by night riders Tuesday night.

Will Hold Lake or Die.
Lincoln City, Tenn., July 23.—There is considerable anxiety and uneasiness about Reelfoot Lake of late. Judge Harris and the West Tennessee Reelfoot Land company have recently caused an injunction to be served upon certain parties fishing on the lake, and Harris, it is said, is building another fish dock on the lake and has offered an extraordinary salary for some party who will go there and ruin it, but he has not been able to get any one who will undertake the job. There has been considerable trouble about the lake, and it is feared that the night riders will put into execution their threats. A few nights since the Lake county authorities came over into Obion county and arrested one of the supposed night riders, and immediately there followed about 600 men, who demanded his release on bond, which was done, and they took him back home, Judge Harris, so reports have it, says that he will not give the lake over to any one, and that all they can do is to kill him. Just where this matter on the lake will end there is no telling.

BRYAN REASSURED
Lincoln, Neb., July 23.—Bryan is taking steps to investigate reports that many Democrats of the south have written Taft, volunteering their support, and declaring the Republicans will carry Georgia and North Carolina. Joseph Daniels, the North Carolina committeeman, was summoned here and denied such reports. He promised Bryan his majorities will be larger than usual. Bryan declared he has received letters showing that scores of men who have not supported the Democratic ticket since 1892 are backing him.

Nan Grogan Can't Find Her Money

On a charge of converting money of another to her own use, Eliza Harris, colored, was arrested by Patrolman Rogers, but her trial was postponed in police court this morning until Saturday morning. It is alleged that the Harris woman took $129 from Nan Townsend, alias Miss Nan Grogan, colored, three years ago, and said she put it in the bank on interest, and the warrant was issued. Nan Grogan is a fortune teller, and makes a specialty of telling other people how to avoid dishonest persons, and where to find lost treasures. So far her own treasure has not been located. Nan was sick three years ago and she had $129 in the house, that

STANDARD TANKS CONSIDERED BY FIRE COMMITTEE

Standard Oil tanks at Tenth and Monroe streets will be finally considered at a meeting of the fire committee of the general council next Tuesday night, when City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., is expected to have communications from other cities showing the treatment the company has received at their hands. Before the committee would follow Fire Chief Wood's recommendation to order the tanks moved to the outskirts of the city, they determined to ascertain whether other cities allowed tanks to remain in the heart of the residential district. Fire Chief Wood is still strongly opposed to allowing the tanks to remain at their present location on the railroad, where flying sparks might find their way into the oil and cause a disastrous explosion.

STIRRING TIMES ARE PROMISED IN FIRST DISTRICT

Republicans Will Bring Spellbinders to Match Ollie James on Stump.

Mayfield Hears Some Campaign Oratory Labor Day.

MR. SPEIGHT NOW CHAIRMAN

Stirring times will be seen in the First district, "The Gibraltar of Democracy in Kentucky," this fall in the presidential contest, and the Democratic spellbinders will have to go up against Republican speakers of state and national reputation, according to plans laid by the meeting of county chairmen of the Republican party at the Palmer House yesterday afternoon.

J. C. Speight, of Mayfield, chairman of the First district congressional committee, was elected chairman, and H. L. Anderson, of Mayfield, was elected campaign secretary. Each county chairman will be ex-officio a member of the campaign committee. Mr. Anderson also was elected secretary of the congressional committee for the next four years. All the plans for the campaign will come from Mr. Speight at Mayfield.

Calloway county's contest for county chairman between A. Downs and C. H. Hedden was settled by unanimously seating Mr. Downs. Two conventions were held in Calloway county and each claimed the chairmanship.

Labor Day will be celebrated in Mayfield and Ollie James has been invited to speak for the Democrats. To match him the Republicans have been invited to send an orator and Attorney General James Breathitt will be urged by the First district managers to represent the party. Judge Breathitt is an orator amply able to handle any debate. Kentucky is recognized as a battleground this year, and among the national figures who will stump the state for the Republicans will be Commissioner of Internal Revenue John G. Copers and Senator Trench, of Idaho.

MARATHON RACE

London, July 23.—Score this morning in the Olympic games were: Americans, 75; United Kingdom, including England and colonies, 63 1-3. The Marathon race is tomorrow and there will be over 70 entries, representing 17 countries. Present indications are that Tom Longboat, an Indian, representing Canada, will run, although the committee has not decided changes of professionaliam.

Ray Ewry, American, won the final standing high jump. Kerr, of Canada, won the final 200 meter run. Cloyches and Cartmell, Americans, second and third.

JOHN H. PIERCE

Chicago, Ill., July 23.—John H. Pierce, of Kewanee, who was a candidate for governor against Doremus in 1904, died this morning. Pierce formerly was president of the Illinois Manufacturing association.

Easton Infant Dies.

The 8-month-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Will Easton, of 423 Kincaid avenue, died yesterday afternoon from whooping cough. The child was taken to Dexter this morning, where the funeral and burial took place.

REFUGEES ON MOVE

Answering a telegram from County Attorney W. L. Kroese, of Kuttawa, Sanford Hall and John Stephens, witnesses in night rider prosecutions, who are staying in Paducah for safety, left yesterday afternoon for Kuttawa to hold a consultation with Mr. Kroese. They returned this morning, but would not talk about the object of their visit. Hall intimated that they would not remain much longer in Paducah. It is thought their hurried visit to Kuttawa had some connection with the raid Tuesday night by night riders when three Illinois Central railroad stations were burned.

CROWD EXPECTED AT NOTIFICATION

Cincinnati Preparing For Coming of Hosts.

Committee on Arrangements Have Affair Well in Hand Up to Date.

PROGRAM WITH BIG PARADE.

Cincinnati, O., July 23.—The committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration of Taft Notification Day is rapidly gathering together the various threads of the organization and perfecting plans.

That there will be large delegations here from Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, West Virginia and neighboring states is now assured. Word is being received from various points hourly to the effect that many are coming, and the committee feel that the crowd here will be a record breaker.

Chairman Robert R. Reynolds on Tuesday received a letter from F. W. Carpenter, secretary to Mr. Taft, asking for complete memoranda of the program of exercises in order that the candidate might familiarize himself with the arrangements.

Will Open Headquarters. Marcus R. Sulzer, of Madison, Ind., conferred with the committee Tuesday and has decided to open southern Indiana headquarters in Cincinnati in order to have a meeting place for the people from that section who will come here on Notification Day by boat and rail to participate in the demonstration.

The demonstration committee met this afternoon and perfected arrangements for the fireworks, the salutes and the river trip.

ments for the fireworks, the salutes and the river trip.

Judge Taft and his party will come through Eden Park at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, and their automobiles will be the only vehicles admitted to the park after 6 o'clock. This has been made absolutely necessary in order to avoid the congestion sure to result if there were no restrictions.

Next to President.

The president's salute is twenty-five guns, and the committee has arranged to give Secretary Taft a salute of twenty-four guns.

Judge Taft and his party, on the Island Queen, accompanied by a flotilla of 100 gaily decorated boats, will give the signal for the fireworks to start in the park.

The first piece will be a magnificent "Niagara Falls" effect in fire, which will be displayed from the Eden park tower and will be plainly visible to those accompanying the secretary on the river.

The movement on the part of business houses to close their places during the exercises took definite form Tuesday, when Chairman Reynolds issued a proclamation calling upon the people to make Tuesday a holiday.

Work was commenced today constructing platforms, reviewing stands, etc., at the Charles P. Taft residence on Pike street, for the notification day celebration. The plans were drawn by Architect Gustav W. Drach.

Will Review Parade. An elevated platform will be erected at the entrance to the home, and from this position of advantage William H. Taft will review the parade of marching clubs that will pass on Pike street. Admission to the grounds will be by ticket only, to prevent undue crowding.

On each side of the walk leading to the Taft residence is a lawn, and about 1,000 persons will be admitted by ticket, issued through the committee, to each of the lawns.

A long platform will be erected immediately in front of the door of the house, and on this Mr. Taft will receive the notification of the Republican nomination, and deliver his address of acceptance. Platforms will be erected on both sides of this one.

On Mr. Taft's right and left will be reserved over fifty seats for the press and other seats will be reserved for the Taft family and special guests, and for the Cincinnati citizens committee and guests. Places will also be set apart for the bands and glee clubs.

He Has Two Signatures.

There is one New York business man who is reasonably proof against the forger, as he has two signatures and the forger must first get hold of one of his blank checks to get any action. Seeing the signature on a letter or hotel register would do the forger no good. The bank would not recognize it. "I don't particularly fear the forger," the business man admitted, "but my two signatures make me feel safer just the same. I am surprised that everybody doesn't hit on the same plan. It's very easy after you get the knack of signing your name two separate and distinct ways."—New York Globe.

McCracken county officers have served a large number of subpoenas on witnesses wanted to testify in the prosecutions of the men indicted at Wickliffe for robbing the Bandana bank several months ago. Trials of the cases are set for August 11 at Wickliffe. Those indicted have been arrested and Will Hughes, Ernest Blumendorf and John Bulger, of Paducah, and Sam Everts, of Bandana, formerly of Paducah.

We Are Forced to Move in Another Week

Not later than August 1st, we must have every piece of furniture out of the store formerly occupied by D. F. Alexander, for other parties have leased the building. It's not a question of profit now; we must get rid of the goods and the prices which we have put on the stock are startling, even in comparison with the low prices which prevailed during our famous Dutch Auction Sale, which moved such a tremendous volume of furniture. If you want to see how much lower, read the few items below. These new prices go into effect tomorrow morning. Come and make your selections tomorrow for in a week this fine stock will all be gone, and at prices which are almost the same as giving it away.

RECTIFIERS GET AN INJUNCTION

Stop Enforcement of New Branding Rules.

Judge Holds Rights Has Become Trade Name—Case Will Go to U. S. Supreme Court.

OPINION BY JUDGE THOMPSON.

Chenault, O. July 23.—The Union Distilling company, of this city, has won in the preliminary stages of the struggle which the distilling interests of Chenault and the country generally are making against the new marking and branding regulations adopted by the internal revenue department and ordered enforced from July 1.

Judge Thompson, in the United States court this afternoon, rendered a decision in which he grants the position of the Union company for a temporary injunction stopping Collector Bettmann and his gangsters from enforcing the new rules in so far as they concern the products of the Union company.

The petition for the restraining order was filed week before last, and the questioning raised was argued before Judge Thompson on the demand of United States Attorney McPherson, whose contention was that nothing was presented in the case calling for the interference of the court. The disputed point in the matter was the right of the internal revenue department and its head commissioner, Mr. E. A. Tamm, to change the old brand of "spirits" to the newly chosen name of "alcohol."

Some Used for Years.
The distillers, on the one hand, claimed that the product known as "alcohol" had been on the market under that appellation for more than half a century, while "spirits" in the same way and for some time, designated a product inferior to "alcohol" and never used for beverage purposes.

The object of the government in defining the change, according to its officials, has been to carry out the intent of the new pure food law to require every article of food to bear a name expressive of its real nature.

QUEBEC GREET ENGLISH HEIR

Prince of Wales Arrives in That City On Warship.

Salute Is Thundered by International Fleet Composed of American,
French and British Ships.

AS VESSEL SWING TO WHARF.

Quebec, July 23.—The Prince of Wales landed from the British battleship Indomitable amid a deafening roar of guns from the international fleet of British, French and American warships, and demonstrations of the 50,000 people massed upon the wharf and the heights of the city.

Splendid Spectacle.

It was a spectacle of truly royal splendor when the latest type of British Dreadnaught with the royal standard flying, came to anchor among the double columns of foreign warships, and the prince was welcomed ashore by Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, and Premier Laurier, and assembled dignitaries backed by thousands of soldiers and a multitude of people.

At 2:45 the prince's fleet was sighted. Immediately the guns of the warships began to thunder. The British, French and American royal salutes were fired together, while every ship hoisted the royal standard and broke down a mass of color from stem to stern. The indomitable advanced with the sailors and marines ranged along the gun deck.

British Ship a Monster.

As she swung alongside the New Hampshire, the colossal magnitude and power of the British ship stood out in bold relief against the American battleship, which looked like a delicate white yacht beside the truly monstrous engine of destruction. Back of her came the Minotaur, another colossus.

Prince Disembarks.

At 4 o'clock the battleships again raised a salute as the prince disembarked from his ship and came ashore. One of the first glimpses the prince got as he stepped ashore was a bevy of English, French and American women ranged in terraced ranks before the landing stage, including Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the vice president, and Mrs. Cowles, wife of the admiral and sister of President Roosevelt.

Welcomed to City.
Premier Laurier delivered to the prince an address of welcome. The prince responded in a happy vein.

The ceremonies concluded, the prince was driven in an open carriage through the streets lined with soldiers and packed with people to the citadel where royal headquarters are established during his stay.

PASSING OF OAK TREE IN ILLINOIS

Brookport, Ill., July 23.—(Special.)—Along in the late '80s the last of the rich section of the valuable hardwood timber belt that once stretched over the great central valley east of the Mississippi, was penetrated to the extension of a combination of small railroads that reached from East St. Louis to Belleville to Parkersville, the St. L. & C. S. L. to Morrisburg, the St. L. & C. S. L. to Morrisburg, the old Car. & Shawneetown and to Brookport by construction and here the locomotive was met by the large double-track sixteen-car transfer, the Steamer George W. Parker, and the cars were ferried across the Ohio and landed at the prosperous little southern city of Paducah, Ky.

This line crossed the Ozark range of hills two miles east of Parker on the Cairo division of the Big Four railroad, dropped down the east slope by a descent of something near 400 feet in a distance of four and one-half miles along the headwaters of the Big Bay and Cache creek, and from Simpson to Round Knob passed through one of the finest belts of hardwood timber the world had ever known, where immediately springing up a chain of thriving saw mill villages, from which was shipped millions of feet of as fine hardwood lumber as the northern market had ever inspected.

Here also came the box shuck and heading machines, and the spoke and axle men, and the ruthless butcher of the forests, with their shining blades and saws, the great cross the companies, and for five or six years the ring of the axe could be heard and the huge piles of ties ranked alongside of the right-of-way could be seen in every direction. Here, too, over the shining rails sorted the iron horse duly, with her train of box cars and swarms of colored laborers gathering up the ties and loading them for shipment to the prairie country of the north and west, where they were needed to go under the trunk lines of overland commerce.

Thus disappeared in a few years the urgent pride of a nation, a forest that had thus far eluded the wild schemes of the speculators, on account of the rough range of Ozark hills that lay between these timbers and the Big Four railroad to the west and the high bluff ridges east along the Ohio river.

There is still some fine timber held by conservative farmers and most farmers have their diminutive woods lot, but commercially it is all gone. Indeed so thoroughly was the remnants worked by the heading mills, which use gum, elm and almost if not all kinds of timber, that one can look out from the car window across the valley at almost any point on the road and see the majestic cedar clad ridges that enclose like massive walls one of the most fertile valleys in the world. Indeed the debris is being rapidly cleared away and where but a few years ago stood the massive oak from a single specimen of which 72 standard railroad cross ties were cut, now grows some of the finest timothy and corn in the world.

This land, too, is not yet valued high in the sense that high prices are commanded, but the prices for the past year or two have begun to decline, and each new cornfield or meadow that is cleared from the underbrush gives new impetus to the prices that before prevailed.

The recent construction of the 13-mile branch line from Reesville via the B. F. R. to Golconda, Ill., on the Ohio river, completed the opening of the gate to the outside world of the whole area of valley shown on old maps as the southern Illinois everglades, and the active work by farmers and the district authorities in the draining of the few remaining shallow depressions bids fair to soon develop the garden spot of southern Illinois.

The completion of the extension planned by the C. B. & Q. from Marion, the C. & E. I. from Joppa, the Big Four from Harrisburg and the Pennsylvania company or Wabash from near Alton to Brookport, the trolley line from Metropolis via Brookport to New Liberty, the establishment of the winter head of the lakes-to-the-gulf deep water way at the mouth of the Tennessee river as recognized by the Mississippi valley river men, and the construction of the large double-track railroad bridge assured over the Ohio river will make Brookport one of the great commercial terminals of the world.

Other Parties Scored By Temporary Chairman Hoyt in Speech—Asylward Opposition.

ON SCHMITZ OF MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., July 23.—What, at the outset, promised to be a harmonious gathering of Democrats in the state convention has changed in sentiment, at least among a number of delegates, in an announcement of his candidacy for governor of A. J. Schmitz, of Milwaukee, in opposition to John A. Asylward, of Madison. The opposition to Asylward finally united on the Milwaukee man and Schmitz consented to make the race.

May Not Nominates.

The opposition to Asylward may result in no ticket being nominated, leaving the selections to be made at the primaries in September. The opening session of the convention was purely routine in character and aside from the adoption of a resolution of sympathy for William B. Vilas, of Madison, in his illness, was devoted to the delivery of a keynote speech of temporary chairman, Hoyt, of Milwaukee.

Hoyt, in his speech, layed all opposing parties without naming his words. The Republican party he characterized as a party of special privileges and fraternism, a party that has created trust and monopoly; that has throttled and is still throttling competition.

Hits Prohibitionists.

Among other things, he referred to the prohibition party as a one idea party and that were it not for the urgency its adherents feel the drink question imposes on them to organize a party, there would be no prohibition party. In connection with prohibition he said that if the brewery industry generally is wise, it will realize the existing evils and correct the abuses without legislation.

As to primary elections, the speaker advocated amending the law so the poor man, as well as the rich, could run for office.

Bryan Demonstration.

He closed by paying a tribute to Bryan, saying the party should be of good cheer, and that the sky is full of hopeful signs.

Hoyt's mention of Bryan resulted in a demonstration lasting several minutes. After the announcement of committees, a recess was taken until tomorrow.

Daily Thought.
"The pursuit of truth is the secret

NIGHT RIDERS AGAIN.

We await with impatience the opinions of Editor Walton, of the Kentucky State Journal, and Editor Jennings, of the Murray Ledger, on the burning of Illinois Central railroad stations at Gracely, Cerulean and Otter Pond. They have been denouncing the military demonstration on the part of the state. These stations were burned because the railroad permitted soldiers to camp on its right of way. Will these two distinguished champions of the "Brown Jeans Gentlemen" say it was the act of a righteously indignant populace, resenting the presence in their peaceful and law-abiding community of a body of armed men sent there by the employees of the tobacco trust to stifle their liberties? or will Messrs. Walton and Jennings admit there are night riders that nothing less than military force can suppress?

They know that had not the soldiers been stationed as they were all western Kentucky, clear to the Mississippi, would have been dominated by night riders and Mayfield and Paducah would have been at the mercy of outlaws. What that means is indicated in the interview of John Stephens in last evening's Sun; when he told of the three men, who proposed to rob a bank, depending on the night riders to protect them; because they know the night riders secrets. That should be a warning to tobacco planters who entered that league of hell, that they will have to stand for all the outrages and crimes of the rogues they allied with under the threat of delay exposed themselves.

The night riders have broken loose in Judge Cook's circuit and we trust that jurist will show himself opposed to night riding in unmistakable fashion. Evidently the bands propose to intimidate witnesses and jurymen and are depending on the inability of the court to protect their victims.

They have gone a bit too far in attacking the railroad. Such conduct, in revenge for the railroad's courtesy to the state authority, will give the outside world the clearest perception it has yet had, that this is not a fight between tobacco planters and the trust. Here are bands of outlaws defying the military and destroying the property of a common carrier. Mexico's latest revolution disclosed nothing worse than was protrayed in Trigg, Caldwell and Christian counties last night. Now the state will be compelled to call out the entire military force. No man may lift his voice against it, without exposing his sympathy with the outlaws, and a little further mischief may precipitate trouble with the general government.

THE STANDARD OIL DECISION.

Let those of us who think the Standard Oil company deserved the maximum fine on general principles, pause and consider whether the current of our passions is sweeping us; for if we are demanding vengeance, instead of justice, we are no better at heart than a night rider; and that same vengeance beyond the law will come back on us swift and sure without the protection of the law. The reversal of Judge Landis by the court of appeals only emphasizes the difficulties we encounter in dealing with corporate rapacity, and to use a time-worn expression — predatory wealth. But that will not justify us in wrong-doing ourselves. If Judge Landis put himself "above the law" in fining the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, when it was only the Standard Oil company of Indiana, that was on trial, we are glad the circuit court of appeals had regard for the rights of the defendant and reversed the lower court. It encourages us to believe that the court would have regard for our legal rights before it.

Judge Landis and the circuit court of appeals take widely varying views on this point. The circuit court of appeals assumed that the two companies are distinct entities. Judge Landis regarded the Standard Oil company of Indiana, as simply the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, parading under an alias, and he treated the defendant just as he would have treated John Smith, burglar, who gave the name of Bill Jones when arrested. The fiction of a name did not cut any figure in the indictment and punishment of the offender, since the identity of the offender was established.

That idea was simple, and easily grasped, and caught the fancy of the multitude, who have little patience with the complexities of the law. But we hope Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis was not prompted by the desire to please the multitude in his decision. If the Standard Oil company is guilty of the offense charged, it should be punished; but only after due process of law. Our own liberties are involved in the trial of the Standard Oil company to the extent that, if it can be outrageously dealt with, the precedent established would apply to any one of us, natural person or corporation, before the court in a similar manner, whether in a case involving the same state of facts or not.

We can see how John Smith, of New Jersey, committing a crime in Indiana under an alias, and the Standard Oil of New Jersey, owning a controlling interest in the Standard Oil of Indiana, which committed a crime, may stand before the court in very different attitudes. For instance the New Jersey corporation would be no more guilty in that case, than would some really innocent stockholder of the Indiana corporation, for it would be nothing more than a stockholder. On the other hand, if the Indiana corporation, is just a blind for the New Jersey company, the latter should not be permitted to make use of a mask and an alias to escape its desert. If the law does not reach such a state of facts, the law should speedily be amended so as to effect a remedy.

In reality, we fear the Standard Oil company has only deferred justice, and added fuel against the state of wrath, by its method of defense.

SECTIONALISM.

The esteemed Courier-Journal deplores the declaration of the Richmond (Va.) News-Leader that "Narrily every considerable southern city has a number of influential citizens classed as Democrats, who oppose Mr.
Bryan bitterly and at heart desire the election of Mr. Taft," yet the arguments reiterated by the Courier-Journal since Col. Watterson's visit to Lincoln, significantly show forth the difference between the Democracy, which is John Sharp Williams', and the Populism which is on top.

Democracy is a great national party, adopting certain principles of statescraft, according to which pattern it cut its policies. Populism is born of prejudice, draws superficial distinctions between classes, and arrays one against the other. As leader of the minority in the lower house John Sharp Williams had regard for his duty to the whole people of the United States, and wherein he recognized merit in the policy of the majority, not conflicting with his party principles, he led the minority in support of the measure. Nevertheless, he lost no opportunity to confound the majority by affording it no excuse for failure to do right. John Sharp Williams never considered one man or one section as differing from another in his or its attitude toward the federal government.

Since Watterson's return from Fairview he has been continually harping on this string: "Policies at length quite as hostile to the west as they were to the south. There will be no change until there is a change of parties, by which the west is represented in the government."

John Sharp Williams would never stand sponsor for such a proposition as that, bound to localize any party that advocates it. The party of Williams would say in effect: Here we are, all one great country, all one people. All men, upon laboring men, doctors, lawyers, preachers, manufacturers, farmers, merchants stand equal before the law. One citizen and one section looks just like another to us. Here are certain principles applicable to our form of government, which offer no special inducements to any class of voters, but offer what we consider to be the greatest good to the greatest number, regardless of the manner in which they make their living, so it is lawful.

The Courier-Journal's effort to array the west and south against the east, or the east against either, must fail. Sectionalism and class distinctions are deplorable in a free government. If there are abuses, offer a remedy, but not one that would divide the country. That's as unpatriotic as it is silly and futile.

Innocence.

A Sunday-school class in Philadelphia consists for the most part of youngsters who live in the poorer districts of the city. One Sunday the teacher told the class about Cain and Abel and the following week she turned to Jimmie, a disinguished lad, who, however, had not been present the previous session. "Jimmie," she said, "I want you to tell me who killed Abel." "Ain't no use askin' me, teacher," replied Jimmie;
"I didn't even know he was dead."

A coat of arms doesn't always hide the family skeleton.

broad drive toward the nearest park entrance. And to the amazement of the onlookers the men in uniform stood at salute until the machine had disappeared. Not even then did they disperse, but stood there silently watching the skies. Pedestrians joined the group, speculating as to the cause of this unformed gathering.

Several minutes elapsed, and then from one and another came startled exclamations. Up from the silent park, soaring above the trees and shrouded with stately sweep, came a strange row of brilliant lights. The secret was out at last, and the American officers gave a frantic cheer, which was joined in by the Englishmen, and taken up by the crowd. As if to recognize their parting shouts, the searchlights of the Roberts in distinct ripples of color fared suddenly upward and round in fan-shaped sweeps, which were finally directed full upon the streets below. At a comparatively low altitude the craft went slowly across the city and headed toward the Atlantic, while men upon the pavements beneath took up the cry, until from all sides windows opened and the people rushed into the streets for a sight of this mysterious aerial visitor. Reaching the lower edge of the city, the radiophone shot up and up until it was a speck of light against the stars, took one last circling flight, and with marvelous speed disappeared in the east. And while America was gaining her first knowledge of this incredible flying machine, the Roberts was shooting away in a long straight track for the old world.

The king had watched the sights below as long as they were visible.
Through his glasses he had seen the streets become filled with excited men, women and children, and their shoutings had come to him faintly above the hum of the dynamo. The glimmerings of the great harbor dimmed and died away, and here and there could be described the lights of the slow steaming patrol ships keeping the outpost watch upon the sea.
When the last sign of life had vanished, he turned to his companions in silence, thinking of all that had taken place within the few recent hours.

Only a short time ago they had entered this aerial chamber, standing in dread of the unknown terror of the waters and the menacing silence of this western continent they were leaving behind. Only a few hours past they had trembled at the powerlessness of their nation and shudderingly awaited the shock of invasion.

Now they were going back to England bearing news that would upset old ideas, remove all fear for the future, and ally her with the most powerful nation history had ever known.
They had sailed away furtively with darkened ports, and were now returning in a glare of white light, careless of who might observe. Events had followed each other in such remarkable sequence, with such astounding rapidity, that it wearied the mind to follow them. The king was pondering over the new situation when with no preliminary notice every light in the radiophone went out and they were left in darkness.

From without and through the open door came the voices of the admiral and engineer in conversation:

"It can't be an enemy."
"Hardly; but we dare take no chances."
"What do you think it is?"
"I don't know. A minute or two will tell if they have seen us." The king and his countrymen tumbled for their glasses in the darkness, found them, and lined themselves up against the transparent port which had not been closed. The cause of the sudden cautionary measures was apparent. There, comparatively far away, and high up against the starlit sky, they saw the blazing line of a searchlight thrust up into the darkness. It wavered uncertainly for an instant, and then slowly, as if feeling its way, approached them. It seemed uncertain and for a moment disappeared. Their own machine had come to a halt.

For an instant nothing was visible, and then there leaped into the air a vertical beam of red. Beside it came another steady ray of brilliant white, and then to complete the color trio a vivid shaft of blue arrayed itself beside the other two. Outside in the hood they heard a wild unrestrained burst of cheering, and the cabin was again flooded with light. The old admiral stepped hurriedly in, his face aglow, and his cap in his hand.

"We have sighted the Norms, your majesty, the craft which disappeared with his imperial majesty, the emperor of Germany."

Before he had finished speaking the signal calling hearers to the wireless telephone buzzed insistently, and he turned to answer. From the dome above they could see answering lights playing rapidly from their own craft.
They heard Hevins talking to some one excitedly, and peering once more through the side ports saw they were moving toward to meet this other fleet of the spaces. With decries, the two approached each other, retaining their altitude high above and beyond sound of the sea. Now they were floating abreast, and finally, after a moment's tensely, they came to a stop. Their metal sides came together with an almost imperceptible jar, and they adjusted themselves for further communication.

First American Newspaper.

The first attempt to produce a authorities after the appearance of the first issue. Only one copy of that single issue is now known to be in

"Abraham Lincoln" Chautauqua Tonight

DR. CATHELL is undoubtedly the best interpreter of the mind and soul of Lincoln that has ever attempted a portrayal of the inner life of that great man. He passed lightly over the successes and achievements of statesmanship that have been so widely heralded and led the audience into shadows of Lincoln's life, the difficulty over which his mighty soul safely carried him.—Sioux

Story Reading in China.

Modern Chinese, or at least those of them who claim to be progressive, have begun to read the literature of the western world, and are especially interested in the novels.
Four years ago translations of only twenty one such books were accessible in Shanghai. Today there are more than ten times that many.

Among the most popular are those books with which the youth in America are told "every young person should be familiar." The Chinese reader likes "Treasure Island," a boy's book of adventure; and "Robin son Crusoe," another adventure tale, appeals to him. He finds delight in the "Arabian Nights," in the "Sherlock Holmes" detective stories, in "Ivanhoe" and the "Talisman," "Les Misérables" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," tales both of social reform and of exciting adventure, set him thinking.

The European love story disgusts the Chinese. He regards the hero of such a story as of doubtful manly, if not of uncertain morals. It is explained that this view is due to the different social standards under which he has been trained. It may be, however, that it is not due wholly to the different training. The common sense, if not the sanity of the heroes of much modern fiction has been many times doubted by American readers, especially by those of mature years.

The growing popularity of European works on political economy, military science, mathematics and mechanics reveals the intellectual temper of those Chinese who seek knowledge as well as amusement.
Nearly four hundred different works on these subjects are on sale in Shanghai.—Youth's Companion.

Hit With His Boys.

A Sunday-school teacher on the upper West side has a class of boys who are all at the age when to sit in the upper gallery at a harlesque theatre is the most delightful sensation in the world, except going to the circus, says the New York Sun. It didn't take the teacher long to discover the inclinations of his boys, and being a diplomatic sort of teacher, he didn't scold them and tell them how stupid it is for little boys to sit in the theatre gallery, where only naughty little boys go.

No, the teacher made an appointment with every boy in the class to meet him the following Saturday afternoon, each boy to wear his Sunday clothes and be equipped with a bag of peanuts. At the hour set the teacher found that every boy had been on hand an hour ahead of time.
He led the way to the nearest burlesque house and bought tickets for the gallery for himself and his party.
The theatre never had a more appreciative audience, and the Sunday-school teacher won't soon forget the afternoon's experience.

It took six months of Sunday-school lessons to wipe out the memories of that afternoon, and the teacher then made an announcement that gave him absolute control of every boy for life and stamped him as the best Sunday-school teacher who ever asked if any boy had memorized the golden text. The teacher merely said that inasmuch as he believed that every boy ought to know how to defend himself, he had arranged to have the entire class admitted to a "really, truly" pugilistic contest in a nearby athletic club.

The teacher carried out his promise, and the very next Sunday ev-ing boy went to Sunday-school accompanied by three new boys. It is one of the few cases on record in which a Sunday-school class developed a healthy growth out of the Christmas, Easter or picnic season.

The Ascent of Man.
He stood upon the earth, and looked To gaze on sky and land and sea.
While in his ear the whisper hurried,
"Behold, these all belong to thee!"

O wondrous call to conquests new!
O thrill of blood! O joy of soul!
O peaks with ever-widening view!
O race with still receding goal!

He heard; he followed, evermore Stumbling and falling, wandering far!
Yet still advancing, while before His footsteps shone the guiding star.

Until he stood with regal brow—
No more, as on the primal sod, A creature yet unborn, a new Lord of two worlds and a child of God.

The tonnage of steel vessels the past year was 417,167, and in the year before it was 360,665, showing a heavy increase in a year the greater part of which was marked by business depression.

The greater part of the shipbuilding is on the great lakes. Of eighty-five steel steamers of more than 1,000 tons each, fifty-five were built on the lakes and thirty on the seaboard.

Curious Welsh Name of Places.
Pence names in the byways of England suggest many memories and conjectures. A newspaper correspondent has gone over the border into Wales—Pembrokeshire—and found "Calm," "Cold Comfort" and "Lelaurol lands." It must have been near there that he discovered "Light a Pipe." There is also a "Pudding's End," a "Dirty Pool" and a "Stark Naked." Pembrokeshire will also provide you with the simplest place name after the unpronounceable A. which is across the North Sea—"Have!"

M. W. A. Excursion.
Few people took advantage of the excursion to Water Valley this morning given for the benefit of the members of the Modern Woodmen of America, who desired to attend the "log rolling" at that place today. However, railroad officials had information that large crowds would board the train at way stations and a long string of coaches was carried out, every passenger coach available in the city being used.

Notice.
The steamer Wabash with the new barge McAllister will carry an excursion down the river below Joppa on Monday next, July 27, at 8:30 p. m. Round trip 35 cents. Abram Pullen, ticket agent.

"I know what I am going to do," said the exasperated head of the family as he listened for the twentieth time to the only true daughter he knew how to play on the piano. "I am going to join this fresh air crusade."—Baltimore American.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY THE MOSAICS

William Alexander Again Elected Grand Master.

J. E. Bush Succeeds Himself as National Secretary of the Order.

SOME NEGROES WHO SUCCEED

The following national officers were elected by the colored lodge, the Mosaic Temple of America: William Alexander, N. G. M.; D. G. Hill, N. G. D.; J. E. Bush, N. G. S.; J. A. Davis, N. G. T.; Rev. J. A. Goodgame, N. G. C.; J. J. Scott, N. G. G.; L. Charles Daniels, N. G. D.; E. J. Smith, N. I. G.; S. A. Jones, N. A. T.; C. A. Bush, N. G. E.; Jacob Hamphrey, N. G. M. Committee on management: Alice White, M. J. Moore, Bettie Jackson, Jennie Westmoreland, Annie Jackson and Fannie McPherson.

Notes of the Grand Lodge.

There is attending the session here a number of substantial and successful negroes, who have made some little progress in the different communities in which they live. Some were born slaves, but today are large property owners. Nearly every walk of life is represented at this meeting. There are ministers, educators, editors, lawyers, doctors, farmers, business men and laborers. They have the idea handed down to them by such men as Booker T. Washington, John E. Bush and others that they must work and produce something and preach the gospel against idleness.

One of the most successful negroes of the south and a leading force in the grand lodge of Mosaics is John E. Bush. He was one of the founders of the order. His home is in Little Rock, Ark., and is United States land receiver of Arkansas. He was elected yesterday grand scribe of the Mosaics by acclamation. He is also vice-president of the National Negro Business League, of which Booker T. Washington is president. Grand Scribe Bush is about the largest property owner among colored people in the state of Arkansas.

SOFT, GLASSY HAIR.

It Can Only Be Had Where There Is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft, glossy hair must be free of dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations that were mostly scalp irritants, have been abandoned, and the public and barbers and doctors included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy. Sold by leading druggists. Two sizes, 50c and $1. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. R. W. Walker Co., Special Agents.

William Alexander, national grand master of the Mosaics, is a contracting painter of Little Rock. He is one of the few negroes in the state of Arkansas, who hires forty to fifty men doing painting work of all kinds. He has contracted work for some of the largest business houses in Little Rock. He is also one of the race leaders in his state, advising at all times his people to enter business and save their money.

D. G. Hill, of Little Rock, Ark., is a factor in the Mosaics. He is deputy grand master. For a number of years he was editor of the Mosaic Guide, an organ of the grand lodge, but since his appointment as United States mail contractor for the city of Little Rock, he has done nothing but look after the government's mail.

Frank Young, a railway mail clerk, is one of the youngest members of the Mosaics. He is one of the best posted men in the order and this was evidenced yesterday by the intelligent reports that he brought before the grand lodge.

John H. McConico, the banker, is also a leading wholesale ice cream maker. He is said to be the only wholesale negro ice cream maker in the country. Mr. Conico is a graduate of an industrial school of northern Alabama.

J. B. Brown is a wholesale ice dealer; L. N. Porter, chief clerk in the postoffice at Little Rock; C. A. Bush, editor of the Mosaic Guide, and Dr. J. G. Thornton is medical head of the order.
